LLANDAFF – A MOST WELCOMING PLACE

Llandaff, a city (11) a city, is located just north-west of Cardiff city centre and it can be easily reached (12)..... foot following a path through the park which leads to the Cathedral. Llandaff Cathedral sits below the rest of the small city, between the hill and the river. After being independent for centuries, the city of Cardiff pushed its (13) to include Llandaff, which offered the Welsh capital the one thing it was (14) of – an impressive cathedral. The city of Llandaff is also home (15) a public school which is famous for many things, one of which being the fact that it was the school Roald Dahl went to for a number of years. The creator of the Chocolate Factory was seven years old (16) he started at Llandaff Cathedral School after his mother decided he had to go to an all-boys school. In the immediate proximity of the school (17), one can now admire a plaque which was unveiled in Dahl's honour. The plaque is to be found at the site of his favourite sweet shop, which the author wrote about in his memoirs. Dahl wrote about this humorous incident that is closely related to the shop – the incident is known (18)..... The Great Mouse Plot. It is all about a dead mouse Dahl and some of his classmates found in their classroom. Apparently it was the writer himself who suggested they place the dead animal in a sweet jar in the shop, (19) they did. The incident caused a series of chain reactions – the way the shop owner saw the deed and how fast the “mighty” can fall. Any avid Dahl reader will immediately recognize these things in the writer’s stories. If the Roald Dahl story is not (20) enough for you to visit the place, there are so many other equally interesting stories attached to it. It is most certainly a must when you are in Cardiff.
